Closed Sessions - Personnel Commission

At the request of the majority of the Commission members present, the presiding officer shall declare the Commission in closed session. Prior to declaring a closed session, the Commission in an open meeting shall disclose the item or items to be discussed in the closed session. The items to be deliberated in closed session shall be limited to personnel problems including but not limited to employer-employee relations matters. All deliberations shall be in conformity to the law. No action can be taken while the Commission is in closed session.
